Marlene Whitman

Saturday, June 1 at 11:00 AM
“And now, for the first time in my 49 years, I am about to chant from the Torah. This moment, this Shehechianu moment, is reflective of my portion. I am a parent showing my children that this is important. I am a child and grandchild whose mother and grandmothers never did what I am about to do. I am standing beside and before my family and friends. And oh do I have empathy for the teens who have gone before me.”
– Marlene Whitman

The Jewish right of passage, typically reserved for teens, is being transformed by Jewish adults seeking to rediscover or reclaim their Jewish identity in front of their family, friends and community. Unlike B’nai Mitzvah for 12- and 13-year-olds, adult B’nai Mitzvah often take place as a group, although some adults choose to become a Bar or Bat Mitzvah by themselves to demonstrate a proactive commitment to their faith. If you are interested in pursuing an adult Bar or Bat Mitzvah, please contact any of our clergy for information.
The biblical book of Leviticus presents two convictions: that holiness exists and that we can gain access to it through ritual. For Leviticus ritual means sacrifice. And sacrifice is an act of bringing an offering to an altar. The Hebrew word for sacrifice is “korban” which literally means “an object brought near.” In addition, in the act of presenting a sacrifice, the one sacrificing also presents her- or himself, all the while in a prescribed way.

We can experience something like this in our own rituals. Our worship services bring us “near” … and in so many ways … to one another in a common sanctuary through an order to service reminiscent of Jewish worship throughout our history. And in the act of worship, do we not feel the power of holiness within our hallowed community engaging in the sacred acts of communal worship? Leviticus offers one powerful way to feel the presence of holiness. Yet, the pathway of Leviticus is not the only biblical way. There is the holiness that we sense in and through the course of history. Our ancestors felt the presence of G-d in the drama of liberation, the miracle of freedom which opens unexpected vistas of possibility. They experienced with wonder the long-delayed and improbable arrival in the Promised Land. They heard the sometimes commanding, sometimes comforting voice of the prophets which illuminates the meaning of historical moments while it calls us to our responsibilities. The Bible dares to insist that considering history to be a random series of events risks missing pattern and purpose. The conviction of historical meaning allows glimpses of those eternal values that can ennoble communities.

The psalmist offers yet another way: that sanctity is revealed in our personal prayers: “The Lord is near to all who call Him, to all who call Him with sincerity” (Psalm 145:18). When we lift our hearts, our gratitude and our yearnings to G-d, we will find its presence in our midst. That is the bold assertion of the biblical poet. And though seeking may not lead to finding, the heartfelt search for connection often yields a power of its own.

Finally, the prophet, our fourth pathway to the presence and power of holiness. In a remarkable passage, Jeremiah asserts that worship and prayer, while significant, cannot be allowed to obscure the deepest way to bring sanctity into our lives: ethical action. Do not, the prophet scolds, put your trust in worship to bring communal felicity and security. No, “Thus said the Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel: Mend your ways and your actions. … If you execute justice between one man and another; if you do not oppress the stranger, the orphan, and the widow; if you do not shed the blood of the innocent [here] … then only will I let you dwell in this place” (Jeremiah, Chapter 7). It is our deeds that will make us whole and that will call down G-d’s blessings upon us.

Holiness is power and presence, the power of presence that promises depth and meaning to our lives. And our sacred scriptures reveal these many sources of sanctity that our world and our G-d make available to individuals and communities that search for them “with all their hearts.”

L’Shalom, Rabbi Roger C. Klein

THE SHEHECHIANU QUILT PROJECT

The Shehechianu blessing gives thanks for enabling us to experience a new or special occasion.

WHAT IS THE SHEHECHIANU QUILT PROJECT?

In celebration of the installation of Rabbi Jonathan Cohen as the 12th senior rabbi of our congregation, we welcome you to participate in this year-long textile art project. We will be creating beautiful quilted panels to reflect the congregation’s gratitude to have reached this moment in time.

We envision the many squares to be created and incorporated into the quilted panels will represent the incredible diversity within our own congregation. The quilts will be displayed on the walls of The Temple, and we will also be able to use them to celebrate milestones that mark new beginnings. Hence, “The Shehechianu Quilt Project.”

Join in this unique opportunity to help create something that will be cherished and enjoyed for many, many years. It will tell the story of who we are, what we value, what we are grateful for, and maybe even, our hopes and dreams for our future.

THERE ARE TWO WAYS FOR EVERYONE PARTICIPATE:

Decorate a square - Squares can be the creation of individuals, families, friends or groups. We encourage the youngest to our most senior members to participate. If you can make a mark (with a paintbrush, permanent marker, needle & thread, or even your fingers or toes), we want to include your unique square!

Contribute a 6 ½” x 6 ½” piece of fabric that has meaning to you - Drop off a piece of fabric that reminds you of something meaningful in your life. The fabric will be incorporated into the quilts to express our collective story!

THE DETAILS:

Pick up a pre-cut 6 ½” square of white cotton in The Temple lobby. Remember that your marks or message can only fill 6” of the square (a ¼” border is needed for assembling the quilt). Use any materials to decorate your square such as permanent markers, paint, ink, dye, applique, needle work, glue, fabrics, buttons, photo transfer, etc.

Please place your creation in a ziplock bag, include a note with your name and why your square is important to you and return it to the reception desk at The Temple. We will take care of the rest!

No two squares will be the same and we are confident that each will beautifully reflect our individual and collective love for The Temple-Tifereth Israel!

If you are a quilter and would like to be involved in this project, please let us know!

For questions or creative inspiration, contact Heather Ross-Lowenstein at hrlow19@aol.com.

The Temple Archives is pleased to present

Moments in the History of The Temple - Tifereth Israel:
HIGHLIGHTS FROM THE
RABBINATE OF ABBA HILLEL SILVER

On exhibit in the Hartzmark Room

More than a century ago, in 1917, a young Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver (1893-1963) was installed as The Temple’s senior rabbi, succeeding Rabbi Moses J. Gries (1868-1918). For nearly 50 years, Rabbi Silver guided The Temple-Tifereth Israel through great growth and expansion, spoke out on social justice issues at both the local and national levels, and became one of the most significant leaders of the American wing of the Zionist movement. The new exhibit offers glimpses into Rabbi Silver’s storied career at decisive moments.

The exhibit features photographs and documents from The Temple Archives, a portrait of Rabbi Silver painted by noted Cleveland artist Sylvia Saul, and reflections on Rabbi Silver by Rabbi Jonathan Cohen.

This exhibit is curated by Jane Rothstein, The Temple archivist.

YOU MADE IT COUNT!

A heartfelt THANK YOU to our all who joined together to Honor Rabbi Cohen’s Installation by Learning to recite the Omer blessing and Engaging in meaningful acts of tzedakah. Let’s continue to inspire each other by volunteering to improve life and living!

LIBRARY LINES BY ANDREA DAVIDSON

Just in time for your summer reading, Julie Orringer, best-selling author of The Invisible Bridge, has written a long-awaited new book, The Flight Portfolio. This gripping historical novel is based on the true story of American journalist Varian Fry and his extraordinary efforts helping Jewish artists and writers escape the Holocaust. Here is the publisher’s summary: In 1940, Varian Fry – a Harvard-educated American journalist – traveled to Marseille carrying three thousand dollars and a list of imperiled artists and writers he hoped to rescue within a few weeks. Instead, he ended up staying in France for thirteen months, working under the veil of a legitimate relief organization to procure false documents, amass emergency funds, and set up an underground railroad that led over the Pyrenees, into Spain, and finally to Lisbon, where the refugees embarked for safer ports. Among his many clients were Hannah Arendt, Franz Werfel, André Breton, Max Ernst, Marcel Duchamp, and Marc Chagall!

Watch your television listings for the dates of two exciting new HBO miniseries being made! The first is based on the book The Plot Against America by Philip Roth, which Rabbi Roger Klein reviewed for the May Literary Club! It will star Winona Ryder, Zoe Kazan, and John Turturro. Jake Gyllenhaal stars in the second miniseries, based on Gary Shteyngart’s book Lake Success.

Remember that the Hartzmolk Library is open all summer, with checkout slips to use if the librarian is not in. Stop by to borrow some DVDs to watch, a book to read at the pool, some paperbacks for your children to read at camp, or the newest Daniel Silva mystery The New Girl.

Contact Andrea Davidson, librarian at 216-455-1724 for information.

SUMMER HOURS
The library is staffed Mondays 10:00 AM - 4:00 PM, Tuesdays 9:30 AM - 4:00 PM, and Wednesdays 10:00 AM - 4:00 PM
