JOIN US ON APRIL 24 FOR A SPECIAL YOM HASHOAH COMMEMORATION

Join us as we partner with friends from the St. Gregory of Narek Armenian Church for a special Shabbat service. Our joint service will commemorate both Yom HaShoah, Holocaust Remembrance Day, and the precursors to the Armenian genocide – precursors that included the expression of religious hatred in the Ottoman Empire in November of 1914. We will redouble our efforts to educate our friends and neighbors about the Holocaust and deepen our appreciation for its context, devastating implications, and for the continued impact of antisemitism.

WATCH FOR INFORMATION ON 2 NEW PROGRAMS IN APRIL AT THE TEMPLE

TANGO DANCING - The health benefits of tango are well documented, not only on a physical level for exercise and keeping the body fit but on a deeper level having a transformative effect on physical and mental well-being. Dancing reduces stress levels, increases serotonin levels and cognitive functions. Join us and dance your way to a healthier you!

BEREAVEMENT GROUP - The Temple will be offering a grief recovery support group where you can find help and healing for the hurt of losing a loved one.

Join Rabbi Cohen, Rob Ross, and Maggie Wise for a joyful evening of conversation, music and fun with your Temple family. The program is free! Refreshments will be served. Bring your friends!
Dear Friends,

The end of February, we celebrate the arrival of the Hebrew month of Adar, the month of Purim, and with it a period of hope, joy, and the glimmers of redemption they bring to our lives. Throughout the Mediterranean basin, the Near East, North Africa, and much of the European continent, the period of Adar (and Nissan, the Hebrew month that follows) signals the arrival of spring, the lengthening and warming of days, and nature’s annual regeneration. At the same time, the months of Adar and Nissan and their celebrations offer us important reminders of the evolution or unfolding of our approaches to redemption and an opportunity to evaluate our practices during the happiest and most liberating moments of the Jewish liturgical calendar.

One of the hallmarks of our celebrations of Purim and Passover is the association between the salvation of our proto-Jewish ancestors on the one hand, and the overcoming of anti-Hebrew and Judean oppression and persecution on the other. Thus, part and parcel of our traditional Purim joy is the vilification of Haman, descendant of our Biblical arch-enemy Amalek and pre-cursor of state-sponsored anti-Judaism, and the boisterous merry-making associated with his humiliation, downfall, and demise. In fact, the festivity associated with Purim has included religious encouragement to consume alcohol to the point of confusion between friend and foe (B. Talmud Megillah 7b.) Further, the sense of elation with this ancient victory over our enemies would bear upon other, non-ritual, aspects of Jewish life in the diaspora. For example, it reinforced the Talmudic Sages’ sense that Adar is a better time than most to litigate against non-Jews, for it was thought the timing may increase the likelihood of a favorable outcome to the Jewish party (B. Talmud Ta’anit 29b.) Adar came to be seen as an auspicious period in our calendar, unlike others that included our memories of loss and defeat. It is not difficult to understand why non-Jews would experience uneasiness with Purim and its celebrations. In time, mis-translations of Haman’s hanging as a crucifixion enhanced Christian concerns regarding the identification of Haman with their Christ and added to suspicion and fear.

Already in the 5th century C.E., the Romans (in Theodosius’ Code) sought to regulate the Jewish celebration of Purim. Later, in the High Middle-Ages, the fear and hatred of Jews and Judaism would occasionally lead to friction and violence on and around Purim. Conversely, on at least one occasion, the intervention of a 13th century local ruler to secure the Jewish community of Narbonne (in the south of France) from violent rioting and looting was quickly associated with the Purim miracle. In the 16th century, Martin Luther, the father of Christian Protestantism, also critiqued the observance of Purim, and Jews’ perceived eagerness for violence and wish for vengeance against their antagonists. In short, throughout our history Adar and Purim would become flashpoints of misunderstanding, seasonally stoking fear and insecurity and increasing the animosity, especially between Christians and Jews.

Purim represents a set of challenges to us as contemporary Reform Jews. One such challenge is to learn about and openly discuss Adar, Purim, and their observances and rituals, and to consider and reflect upon our tradition with a critical eye, while creating and promoting a fun-filled, joyous, and hopeful celebration of our holiday. Another is to fully appreciate the narrative of threat, deliverance, and survival of the Jewish people while not turning this holiday into an insular and uncomfortable moment for the large number of our non-Jews relatives, friends, and neighbors. Yet another challenge is to come to terms with the rise of anti-Judaism in our society at this time, and to confront the undiminished tension in our quest to live full Jewish lives and advance Jewish identity among our children and grandchildren while wholeheartedly integrating into our American society and living without fear of exclusion or marginalization.

Perhaps it is time for us to re-learn Purim and transform the month of Adar. Let us imagine Adar as a future month of interfaith outreach, community-building, and partnership. Let us re-focus our energies on the promotion of civil discourse and the bridging of our social and religious divides. Let us consider how to engage in learning about Adar and Purim ad invite others to join our effort. Both sadly and happily, the Purim narrative remains full of meaning and relevance in our day. Let us muster the courage and will to address it in all its richness and complexity, and let us make the best of it. I send you my warmest wishes for a heathy, happy, peaceful, and fulfilling month of Adar and a wonderful Purim holiday.

– Rabbi Jonathan Cohen
We are seeing a rise in email spoofing that appears to come from Temple clergy and executives. Email “spoofing” happens when scammers forge the sending details on an email message. The message may appear to come from Rabbi Cohen but isn’t really.

Please know that clergy and staff of The Temple would never email you directly and ask you to buy any kind of gift card. It is a good rule of thumb to never comply with emails asking you to buy gift cards or send money.

It is unfortunate that scammers aren’t using all of that cleverness for good. We must be on alert and never take for granted what seems like a sincere appeal for a favor.

Here are a few ways to check if the email you receive is spoofed:

- For Gmail, open the email and click on the three vertical dots next to the reply arrow and select “Show Original”
- For Outlook, open the email and go to File – Properties and view the “Internet Header”
- For most email types, click Forward which will then show the “To” and “From” email addresses from the original email.

Saturday afternoons and Sunday mornings when you walk into room one, you might be surprised at what you see. The room is bursting with energy emanating from the small groups of students working together collaborating, brainstorming, problem solving and co-creating.

Each table is facilitated by a knowledgeable and dedicated madrich/a (teen aide). Their teacher, Ed Magiste, can be found making his way around the room guiding and supporting quietly in the background.

Several years ago we launched a brand new curriculum for our 6th grade (5th & 6th for Shabbaton) which requires a deep and intensive knowledge of a wide range of topics. Perhaps even more important, it requires a teacher who is dedicated to working closely with our madrichim as a mentor in order to build their capacity as facilitators.

Ed Magiste has worked tirelessly with his team of madrichim to help strengthen their confidence and raw skills. He is dedicated to supporting them to be successful role models and facilitators in order to create more meaningful learning experiences for our children. Watching him work with the teens and students together is like watching art unfold before your eyes. It is truly beautiful to witness.

In recognition of Dr. Magiste’s outstanding work, professionalism, creativity and leadership, he has received the prestigious Albert B. Ratner and Jack & Esther Goldberg Israel Fellowship Award from the Jewish Education Center of Cleveland. The award recognizes two outstanding teachers in Cleveland Jewish schools who have a positive impact on students as a role model, It provides an award of up to $3000 for advanced study in Israel.

We wish a hearty mazel tov to Dr. Ed Magiste on this well-deserved award. Ed is the proud father of David and Jose.

LEAVE A LEGACY AT TTTI

Since 1850, The Temple-Tifereth Israel (TTTI) has been the center of Jewish life in the Cleveland area, providing a sustaining source from which individuals and families – young and old – can nourish their spirits and enrich their lives. TTTI truly is a family: a family that works together to foster an inclusive, connected, innovative, and inspirational spiritual home. We provide Jewish education and activities for all ages.

We are proud of our Shabbaton program for young families, Ganon Gil and our Temple Learning Center – as well as our adult education offerings, which include adult learning classes, Torah Study, Adult B’nai Mitzvah, and guest speakers who are experts in their fields. Together, we have built a vibrant Jewish community and established long-lasting relationships that support us throughout our lives.

As Jews, we are called upon to preserve and strengthen what past generations have built in our community. As our ancestors taught, we are obligated to plant seeds for the generations that come after. We invite you to join us in assuring that TTTI continues to flourish for future generations. It is up to us to help ensure that our children and grandchildren will have a vibrant community in which to learn about Judaism and Jewish values, develop a personal commitment to Judaism, and become part of the Jewish people.

Including The Temple-Tifereth Israel in your estate planning can be a meaningful way to create a legacy for these future generations. There are many different ways to make such gifts, including:

- Adding a bequest provision to your will or trust
- Adding TTTI as a beneficiary to your retirement plan, life insurance policy, or donor advised fund residual
- Donating a gift of real estate

We look forward to working with you to develop a meaningful personal planned giving program. Because there are important tax issues associated with such gifts, we recommend that you consult with your attorney or tax advisor.

Contact Christie Yonkers, Executive Director, at cyonkers@ttti.org to learn more.

ART TALK - Monday, March 9 at 2:00 PM

Let’s look at The Temple Museum’s collection of Megillat Esther that we read at Purim. Be dazzled by the beautifully illustrated Megillat Esther by Indian Jewish artist, Siona Benjamin, who visited our congregation several years ago. If you have a family Megillat Esther bring it to share with the group!

Bring friends and family to see the exhibit My Beloved is Mine: Jewish Wedding Rituals, Stories & Sacred Objects. If you are a Temple member, you are welcome to visit the exhibit any time. If you are telling a friend about the exhibit, and they are not visiting with you, please ask them to contact Sue Koletsky, Museum Director, to make an appointment for a tour by calling 216.455.1697 or emailing skoletsky@ttti.org.
Rabbi Roger C. Klein will lead a Pre-Concert Lecture

Apollo’s Fire Performs
Bach’s St. Matthew Passion

Wednesday, April 1 at 7:00 PM
St. Christopher Parish
20141 Detroit Rd., Rocky River

Friday, April 3 at 7:30 PM
Severance Hall
11001 Euclid Ave., Cleveland

Saturday, April 4 at 7:00 PM
St. Paul’s Episcopal Church
1361 W. Market St., Akron

Join Rabbi Roger Klein and cellist René Schiffer for a pre-concert lecture one hour before each performance.

Bach’s resplendent masterpiece is rarely performed live, due to the extraordinary forces required: two orchestras, two choirs, soloists, and children’s choir. Jeannette Sorrell leads a dramatic presentation, with singers performing from memory in the character roles. Bach’s resounding sense of community envelops the performance as the audience joins in singing the chorales – just as Bach’s congregation did nearly 300 years ago.

Tickets can be purchased for the performances by calling the box office at 216.320.0012 or online at apollosfire.org

APOLLO’S FIRE RETURNS TO THE TEMPLE

Tuesday, March 10 at 7:30 PM

Jeannette Sorrell’s evocation of Old Jerusalem blends music and poetry from the Jewish, Christian, Arab, and Armenian quarters of the Old City. Selections from Monteverdi’s great Vespers of 1610 echo with Arabic love songs and rapturous singing of Jewish cantors. The performers, including musicians of Jewish, Muslim, and Christian backgrounds, join together in a celebration of brotherhood and sisterhood.

Tickets can be purchased by calling the box office at 216.320.0012 or online at apollosfire.org

HOW TO LIVE: INSIGHTS FROM PROPHETS, PHILOSOPHERS, POETS, PHYSICIANS AND COACHES

Sundays, March 22, 29 & April 5 at 10:30 AM

From time immemorial people have been pondering questions like: What makes life worth living? What should I strive for? What do I really need? What are my primary obligations? How do I judge between my individual needs and those of my family and community? What role does religion play in a life worth living? In these sessions we will explore important attempts to answer these questions.

• Biblical Prophets: Micah on “what the Lord requires of us”; Isaiah on “the true fast”
• Philosophers: Aristotle on virtue as happiness; Montaigne on a Life of Moderation
• Poets: William Carlos Williams, Homer, Judah Halevi, Matthew Arnold
• Doctors: Abraham Maslow’s Hierarchy of Needs; Atul Gawande’s Being Mortal and the worthwhile life
• Coaches: John Wooden’s Pyramid of Success; Fred Heinlen’s Persistence, Concentration & Anticipation

FREE AND OPEN TO THE COMMUNITY!

Plan to Join Us for a Special Weekend in Celebration of Rabbi Roger C. Klein’s & Cantor Kathryn Wolfe Sebo’s 20 Years of Leadership and Friendship at The Temple

June 26-27

Mark your calendars for a memorable weekend as our Temple family and community celebrate Rabbi Klein’s and Cantor Sebo’s milestone Temple anniversaries. We'll share in worship and learning opportunities, concluding with a special concert by Cantor Sebo.

Friday, June 26 at 6:00 PM - Shira Chadasha Kabbalat Shabbat & Conversation
We extend a special invitation to all members of our congregational community, including families and children, to join us for a Shira Chadasha Musical Kabbalat service followed by an Oneg with heavy hors d’oeuvres and wine. The celebration continues with conversation featuring Rabbi Klein and Cantor Sebo reminiscing on their 20 years at The Temple.

Saturday Morning, June 27 at 9:00 AM - Enhanced Torah Study
Rabbi Klein will be joined by Rabbi Cohen and Rabbi Schlein for a special Torah Study session. Bagels and refreshments will be served.

Saturday Evening at 7:30 PM - Cantor Kathryn Wolfe Sebo in Concert!
Plan to attend this spectacular evening as Cantor Sebo delights and entertains us with her beautiful voice.

LIBRARY LINES BY ANDREA DAVIDSON

MONTHLY BOOK DISCUSSION

Join us on Wednesday, March 18 at 1:00 PM

Jeremy Sosin will review The Color of Love: A Story of a Mixed-Race Jewish Girl by Marra B. Gad

An unforgettable memoir about a mixed-race Jewish woman who, after fifteen years of estrangement from her racist great-aunt, helps bring her home when Alzheimer’s strikes.

Bring your friends! The Temple will provide beverages and dessert.

Contact Andrea Davidson, Library Director, at 216.455.1724 for information.

Save the date: Wednesday, April 22 at 1:00 PM

Rita Saslaw will review The Limits of the World by Jennifer Acker

The Chandaria family, emigrants from Nairobi, have flourished in America through their hard work. However, family secrets revealed force the entire family to return to Nairobi. There the son, Sunil, reveals his own well-kept explosive secret: that the American-Jewish girlfriend who has accompanied him to Kenya is already his wife. The novel is a powerful depiction of cultural divisions and how we prevent ourselves from understanding the people we are closest to.

The monthly book discussion is generously sponsored by the Debra Jacobs Book Discussion Fund

CONGREGANTS IN THE NEWS

Congratulations to Asher Hardis and Lauren Clar

Nine Greater Cleveland students won $1,575 in scholarships in the 30th Annual Martin Luther King Essay Contest sponsored by East View United Church of Christ in Shaker Heights. The students received their prizes at the church’s annual breakfast and essay awards program that took place on January 20th MLK Jr. Day. Asher Hardis of Beachwood Middle School and Lauren Clar of Beachwood High School were two of this year’s recipients. Congratulations to Asher and Lauren, and their families, on this achievement!

DO YOU KNOW A CONGREGANT BEING HONORED IN OUR COMMUNITY?

If so, let us know so we can share it with our Temple family! Send information to Debbie Friedman, Communications Director, at dfriedman@tti.org or call 440.498.9540.
JANUARY 2020 BOARD MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

The Board is pleased to report that it has achieved 100% participation for the ALL IN Annual campaign. This level of participation demonstrates significant Board leadership and support. We are also seeing increased support for the ALL IN campaign from our congregational community. We are grateful to our All In Campaign co-chairs, Rachel Feinleib and Dina Rock, with significant support from the ALL IN Committee.

Christie Yonkers reported a considerable increase in the number of families who have joined The Temple this year and we are tracking increased attendance at our worship services. “Board Congregant Connections” is a new initiative that is designed to connect Board members with a cohort of Temple families. This is an exciting opportunity for Board members to fulfill the Temple’s vision of being a warm and welcoming community.

The Board heard a presentation from David Schafer, Managing Director of The Maltz Museum. David discussed the important partnership between the Museum and the Temple.

The Governance Task Force reported on its work in reviewing the data obtained from the Governance Board Survey and examining best practices for Board structure and decision-making. The Task Force will present its recommendations to the Board in the spring.

KESHER PURIM!
HONORING & CONNECTING WITH SENIOR TEMPLE MEMBERS
Sunday, March 8 at Noon
If you are seeking a wonderful individual or family experience, please join us to help pack and deliver Purim (Mishloach Manot) bags to our senior Temple members who don’t regularly get out and about. Each volunteer or family may deliver 2 or 3 bags filled with holiday goodies and beautiful Purim cards (courtesy of Ganon Gil children). We ask that you provide both transportation and smiles for this heartwarming experience.

BATTERY RECYCLING PROGRAM
Did you know that household batteries are responsible for 50 to 70% of all heavy material found in landfills? We are offering an easy way to help! Bring your old batteries to the reception desk where a bin is available for proper disposal. A recycling business will extract 61% of the battery components: zinc, manganese, steel and even the paper and plastic on the outside jacket. These materials will be sent to manufacturers for reuse.

GARDEN PREVIEW
We’re starting a Garden! Check out the construction in process on the way into the Wald Outdoor Chapel. Details to follow come Spring!
